HOOPER PLANS TRIP TO SOUTH AMERICA

AVALANCHE OF BUYING ORDERS BOOSTS PRICES

All Last-Day-of-Week Trading Records Broken on New York Exchange When Total Sales Reach 3,207,000, Compared With Previous High Mark of 2,501,400 Chalked Up March 31—Prices of a Wide Assortment of Issues are Whirled Up $5 to $23 a Share—Overburdened Ticker Again Falls Far Behind.

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—(By the Associated Press)—The New York stock exchange today experienced its busiest half-day session in history.

Records for Saturday trading were broken as a flood of buy orders produced total sales of 3,207,000 shares, or more than 700,000 shares above the previous high Saturday total, 2,501,400 shares, established on March 31.

The curbing market similarly had its busiest Saturday, with total sales of 1,086,900 shares against the previous record of 1,074,900 shares, established October 20. The curbing market closed forty minutes after the market, also a record day.

Prices of a wide assortment of issues were swept up $5 to $23 a share. The New General Motors shares, first traded on a "limited" basis, ranged from $88.50 to $89.63.

Montgomery-Ward soared $23 a share to a new record price of $407. Radio for shares in the special performer, shooting up $18 to $26, but losing about a third of its gain in profit-taking. Canadian Pacific, Mexican Seaboard Oil, Vanadium Steel and Federal Mining & Smelting climbed about $5 to $9.

PEOPLE FORGOT ACTUAL ISSUES

Norris Says Were Obscured By Religion and Prohibition.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—(P)—Senator Norris of Nebraska, who supported the democratic presidential ticket, declared in a statement today that "the greatest element involved in the landslide was religion" and that the next controlling issue of the campaign was prohibition.

"The real issues in the campaign were relief for agriculture and the preservation of our natural resources from the grasping fingers of the power trust," he said. "In the excitement over the artificial issues of religion and prohibition farm relief was beaten and the power trust given the greatest victory it has ever achieved since it began the stealthy and secret attempt to control all the activities of our economic and political life. It is almost inconceivable in the face of the astounding revelations of the federal trade commission's investigation that this should be so."

"From the outlook of a progressive, the immediate future is not encouraging. As a concrete illustration it looks now that unless the Supreme court holds that the Muscle Shoals bill passed at the last session of congress is now a law, that great property developed at the expense of the American taxpayers cannot be saved for the people."

"Notwithstanding the setback, it is the duty of progressives to fight on and to do the best we can, even in the face of defeat and to continue the contest in spite of the additional odds that the election has thrown in the pathway of human progress."

Soldier Gives U. S. Invention Worth Fortune

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—(P)—Master Sergeant Paul N. Nelson, a native of La Crosse, Wis., and now stationed at Fort Totten, N. Y., has given the government an invention in submarine mine control which is expected to save a million dollars in maintenance work alone in ten years.

Weather Forecast For Coming Week

CHICAGO, Nov. 10.—(P)—The weather outlook for the week beginning Monday follows: Upper Mississippi and lower Missouri valleys: Occasional periods of precipitation, but mostly fair in southern portions; temperature above normal until after middle of week followed by colder before weekend.

ARMY BATTLES NOTRE DAME AT YANKEE STADIUM

Eighty-Five Thousand See Colorful Intersectional Football Struggle.

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—The Army Cadets went down to their first defeat of the season here today Notre Dame winning by a score of 13 to 6.

YANKEE STADIUM, NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—(P)—Notre Dame, exhibiting a surprisingly powerful attack, outplayed the unbeaten Army eleven today throughout the first half of their spectacular intersectional battle before a jam of 85,000 fans, but neither team was able to score. A fumble by Fred Collins at the Army goal line cost the Hoosiers their best chance for a touchdown.

FIRST PERIOD.
Captain Sprague, wearing a protective nose guard, kicked off for the Army, Brady running back the ball fifteen yards to the 35-yard line. To his Cadet forwards smeared with Hoosier running game and Niemiec's high punt was recovered by the Army on its 40-yard line, but Cagle, on pass formation, was thrown for a seventeen-yard loss and Army was forced to punt.

Hoosier Threat Fails.
After a kicking exchange, Notre Dame completed a beautiful pass, Niemiec to Chevigny, for a gain of twenty-two yards, putting the ball on Army's 43-yard line. The Hoosiers kept up the aerial barrage, but a penalty and a few wild heaves broke up the threat, forcing Niemiec to kick.

Niemiec, out-punting his cadet rival, Murrel, kept the Army on the defensive, gradually pushing the Soldiers back toward their own goal. Neither running attack had shown any symptoms of breaking loose so far, although it was taking sharp defensive work by the Notre Dame secondaries to plug gaps torn in their line.

The first period ended scoreless, with Notre Dame holding the ball on Army's 4-yard line.

SECOND PERIOD.
Notre Dame got a "break" early in the second period when Niemiec's punt took a sharp twist, out of bounds on Army's 3-yard line. Murrel kicked out to his 37-yard mark, but Fred Collins, Hoosier fullback, got the ball on the first play for a twenty yard dash to the Cadet 17-yard line.

Jack Chevigny slashed through center for six yards, then Collins punted six more through the same gap to make it first down on Army's 4-yard line. Army stopped the next play. Then Collins fumbled as he plunged for the goal line. Murrel recovered to save the Army from being scored on. It was a touch back and the Cadets put the ball in play on their own 20-yard line.

The Cadets with Red Cagle loose for the first time, got their running attack going briefly, registering a first down on their 33-yard line after an exchange of kicks. The scrappy Hoosier forwards braced, however, and forced Murrel to punt when he bucked the line without a gain.

From their own 37-yard line, the Hoosiers broke loose again. Chevigny circling Army's right end for a twelve-yard dash that put the ball on the Cadet 47-yard mark. Fred Collins, in two lunges, made another first down on the 37-yard line. The Soldiers braced again and stopped the march, forcing Niemiec to kick out of bounds on the 20-yard line just before the half ended.

Score: Army 0; Notre Dame, 0.
THIRD PERIOD.
Sprague, Army's captain, was laid out in the first play of the third period, but continued after receiving first aid. Cagle got loose off tackle and dashed twenty yards to Army's 47-yard line. He then dropped back and hurled a magnificent pass to Messinger, who was downed on Notre Dame's 13-yard line. It was a forty-one yard gain.

O'Keefe was thrown for a three yard loss, but Cagle dashed off tackle to the 8-yard line. Murrel made three more, then Cagle registered first down on the 3-yard line. The red-headed Army ace kicked through for two yards more, but was hurt and time was taken out. Murrel went over for a touchdown in two plunges. Sprague missed goal.

Score: Army 6; Notre Dame, 0.
A 15-yard penalty against the Cadets for roughing the receiver of a punt gave Notre Dame the ball on Army's 37-yard line. Fred Collins circled right end to Army's 24-yard line. Chevigny then hurried through a big gap at center to the 12-yard line and the hoosier stands roared for a touchdown.

Sprague was replaced in the army line by Parham and Messinger by Lynch as the Cadets fought the opposing rushes. Collins, Chevigny and Niemiec advanced in short thrusts, Collins making first down on Army's 2-yard line. It was a desperate battle, but Chevigny finally fought his way over for a touchdown on the fourth down after three rushes had been stopped. The ground was moist from rain and the score was tied, 6-6.

Notre Dame kicked off and Cagle ran the ball back to his 25-yard line as the third period ended.

BIG CROWD SEES HUSKER - SOONER GRIDIRON BATTLE

Nebraska Meets Strong Oklahoma Team On Norman Field.

BY "CY" SHERMAN.
OWEN FIELD, NORMAN, Okla., Nov. 10.—A super brand of football weather was served up here today for an outpouring of gridiron enthusiasts, variously estimated at 20,000 to 25,000—a crowd not equaling the attendance of the Nebraska-Missouri game two weeks ago in Lincoln, but surpassing by many thousands all previous records in Oklahoma history.

A golden sun was shining its brightest from a cloudless sky, the temperature had that zippy crispness which is needed to keep the grid gladiators on physical edge for their sixty minute battle and the field was only a trifle soft from a Friday morning rain. A brisk breeze was blowing from the south, which conveyed the threat of a hunting advantage to the team having the south goal.

The Cornhuskers from Nebraska will go into action garbed in white jerseys, a courtesy arrangement by which the Nebraska players will wear their scarlet and cream in favor of Oklahoma, which has university colors similar to Nebraska.

The lineup:
Nebraska: Pos. (c) Oklahoma Morgan; L.E. (c) Hamilton Broadstone; L.G. Garrett; Holm; C. C. C. Berry; Mullen; R.T. C. Berry; Ashburn; R.E. Churchill; Russell; Q.B. Kitchell; Sloan; L.H. Haskins; F.B. Howell; (c) F.B. Kirk.
Officials: Referee, John C. Grover, Washington University. Umpire, E. N. Tipton, University of Missouri. Field Judge, Dr. J. Sloan, Washburn college. Head linesman, Earl Jones, Tulsa university.

Oklahoma just came on the field. Captain Howell won the toss and kicked the south goal. The line in his advantage, Oklahoma will kick and Nebraska will receive.

FIRST QUARTER.
Churchill kicked off forty-five yards to Howell, who returned ten yards to the Nebraska 25 yard line. Howell plunged three yards over tackle. Sloan punted fifty-five yards Oklahoma making no return. Oklahoma's ball on the 16 yard line. Kirk gained a yard at center.

Haskins punted twenty-nine yards. It was Nebraska's ball on the Oklahoma 36-yard line. Howell falls to gain at left tackle. Nebraska took time out. Sloan gained one yard at center. A pass, Sloan to Russell, was good for eight yards. Sloan hit center for two yards making it a first down. It was Nebraska's ball on the Oklahoma 25-yard line.

Howell fumbled and was thrown for four yards loss. Sloan went over left tackle for three yards. Third down and eleven to go. A pass, Sloan to Morgan, was incomplete. Fourth and eleven to go. Sloan dropped back to the 35-yard line for a try for goal. The kick was low and it went for a touchback.

Oklahoma scrambled from the 20-yard line. Broadstone was offside and Nebraska was penalized five yards. Kitchell fumbled on Oklahoma's 23-yard line and Nebraska recovered.

Russell made a yard at center. Farley plunged through center for three yards. Third down and seven to go. Sloan went around left end for three yards.

Sloan retreated to the 25-yard line and dropped a perfect goal for three points.
Score: Nebraska, 3; Oklahoma, 0.
James kicked off fifty-five yards. Kitchell returned twenty-three yards to Oklahoma's 28-yard line. Kirk hit center for two yards. Haskins' punt rolled thirty-two yards. Nebraska's ball on its own 38-yard line.

Howell went out of bounds for no gain. Sloan's quick kick rolled sixty yards out of bounds. Oklahoma's ball on its 2-yard line. Drake was substituted for Kitchell in the Oklahoma backfield.

Haskins punted twenty-five yards. Howell returning five yards to the Oklahoma 22-yard line.
Sloan lunged around Oklahoma's right end for nine yards. Oklahoma was offside on the play, but Nebraska declined the penalty.
Howell plunged for four yards and a first down. The ball was on Oklahoma's 8-yard line.

Sloan circled Oklahoma's left end for eight yards and a touch-down.
Score: Nebraska, 9; Oklahoma, 0.
Sloan place-kicked extra point.
Score: Nebraska, 10; Oklahoma, 0.
Churchill kicked off fifty-five yards. Sloan returning twenty-seven yards. Nebraska's ball on its own 32-yard line. Sloan made four yards around Oklahoma's left end. Howell plunged for another yard. Sloan's forward pass was incomplete. The ball was on Nebraska's 37-yard line.

Sloan punted forty-eight yards. Haskins returning nine yards. The ball was on Oklahoma's 34-yard line. Gentry replaced Garrett for Oklahoma.

Nebraska was offside on the first play and penalized five yards. Haskins went around right end for two yards. On a half crisis-cross, Gentry swung around Nebraska's left end for four yards and a first down. Crider failed to gain around the other end. Kirk dove through center for two yards.

PRESIDENT-ELECT TO LEAVE SOON ON A FORTY-DAY TOUR

Victor in Tuesday Election Preparing to Sail From a Pacific Port Within a Fortnight for a Good Will Visit to the Only Continent Upon Which He Has Not Set Foot—Would End Long Journey at Some Point on Atlantic Seaboard Early in January—Wants Close-Up Perspective of Problems of Latin-American States.

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Cal., Nov. 10.—(By the Associated Press)—Herbert Hoover contemplates spending forty days on a tour of South America, the only continent upon which he has yet to set foot, before returning to Washington for his inauguration as president on March 4.

Under present plans he will sail from a Pacific coast port, probably San Diego, within a fortnight, and end his long journey at some point on the Atlantic seaboard early in January, thus spending Christmas either in South America or on the high seas.

In desiring to visit the other America, the president-elect has the two-fold purpose of fostering good will between his own country and those to the south, and of getting a close-up perspective of the problems of the Latin-American states. Friends of the president-elect emphasize that this is to be in no sense a diplomatic mission, but purely one of good will. Thus the president-elect would keep clear of any discussion of pending diplomatic questions, such as Tacna-Arica, admission to the Briand-Kellogg peace treaty denouncing war, and tariff

State Fair Board Wants Structure For Education.

Required Because of Increase In Number Exhibits.

Over 100 alumni from Nebraska Wesleyan university returned to the campus Saturday for the annual homecoming celebration. At the assembly held at Whitehall Saturday morning Chancellor I. B. Schreckengast welcomed the graduates and expressed thanks for the co-operation of the alumni in the work of the institution. The response was delivered by Mr. Charles G. Gomon, superintendent of the Norfolk district of the Nebraska Episcopal conference.

Announcement was made that work on the new stadium had progressed satisfactorily. The stadium is nearly finished and the playing field in use. The side terrace will be added and cinders placed around the quarter-mile track and the 220 yard straightaway. Seats will be put in next spring.

R. E. Greenall of Stanton, former athlete, entertained with a cornucopia of the future. The presentation of "The Patsy" by the Dramatic club at 8 o'clock. Winners of the homecoming decoration contest were fraternities first, Phi Kappa Psi; second, Theta Phi Sigma; third, Sigma Kappa; sororities—first, Sigma Alpha Iota; second, Willard; third, Theta Xi. The committee of judges was composed of Oz Black, Dwight Kirsh and Dave Schaffer, all of Lincoln.

The fraternity and sorority round-ups and dinners will be held Saturday evening. Alumni coming from farthest points were Mrs. J. M. Burk, '96, Berkeley, Calif., and Minnie Claussen, returned missionary from Lima, Peru.

Haskins fumbled but recovered. Oklahoma's ball on its 23-yard line. Drake plunged through for one yard. Time was up for the first quarter.

Score: Nebraska, 10; Oklahoma, 0.
SECOND QUARTER.
Mills replaced Kirk in Oklahoma's backfield. Oklahoma's ball on its own 24-yard line. Drake failed to gain on a try at Nebraska's right end. Mills punted forty-six yards. Sloan returning eight yards, going around Nebraska's left end. Sloan's ball on its 38-yard line. Sloan drove over the right tackle for seven yards.

Howell made a yard through center, but Oklahoma was offside and was penalized five yards. It was first down for Nebraska in the middle of the field. Sloan hit center for two yards.

Grading Contract Awarded.—R. R. Knight of Lincoln has been awarded the contract for approximately six miles grading to be done on the state highway between Genoa and Fullerton. His bid was $3,311. The next lowest bid was nearly double that amount. The bids were received Friday morning at the state department of public works.
Deny Liquor Charge.—Three persons denied guilt to liquor charges when arraigned in Municipal court Saturday. Wayne and Roscoe Deahl are charged with illegal possession and transportation and using their car to transport the liquor. Mrs. J. L. Little is charged with possession. Judge Chappell set the Deahl case for trial next Saturday morning and fixed the defendants' release bonds at $1,500 each. They were arrested Thursday by officers from the state sheriff's office who say the Deahls had thirty gallons of liquor in their car. Mrs. Little was arrested October 25 by Deputy State Sheriff Frank Weygint. Her hearing will also be next Saturday. She was released on a $500 bond.

C. W. Pool Sends Congratulations to Secretary Marsh

Congratulations from his defeated democratic opponent, Charles W. Pool of Lincoln, were received by Secretary of State Marsh in the following letter Saturday morning.
"Dear Mr. Marsh—Here with please find expense account. I hope the democrats may be invited to participate in the next election. It appears from the 'scattering' returns which I have been permitted to see that you republicans held a rather emphatic election last Tuesday without being at all considered of the feelings of us democrats.
Please accept my best wishes for a successful administration of the affairs of the office to which you were elected. I might say the best man won but in no doing I necessarily would have some slight mental reservations. Anyway, I made and honest effort to defeat you but now that you have won I am sport enough to wish you a pleasant two years in the office of secretary of state."

Alpha Chi Sigma Is Incorporated
An alumni association of Theta chapter of Alpha Chi Omega professional chemical fraternity, which has a chapter house in Lincoln at 1610 R street, has been legally incorporated and its articles are on file in the secretary of state's office. The purpose in view is supposedly the erection of a permanent home for the organization. Edwin A. Fluevog is sponsoring the corporation.
Other articles filed Saturday at the capitol were by these concerns: Grand Island—Flower & Porterfield, a local unit of the Allied Securities System, Lincoln; B. M. Smith, E. M. Porterfield, and C. F. Flower; maximum stock provision $100,000.
Albion—H. F. Lehr Lumber Co., by H. F. Lehr, M. G. Colpetzer and L. G. Simpson; limit of capital stock, $100,000.

Merely Margy, An Awfully Sweet Girl! Story by Lloyd Mayer By John Held, Jr.

"My dear, I'm all hot and BOTHERED—I mean I'm THOROUGHLY INCENSED about the situation at this point, because I'm making NO visible PROGRESS with Arab about this cryptic matter of getting him to coach BULL in psychology so I can stand on the FOOTBALL team; do you know what I mean? Well, ANYWAYS I had HOPES of bringing him ROUND to the point of DOING something about it when I was ARGUING the point again with him toDAY, my dear, but JUST as I'd got him to the VERGE of WEAKENING, WHAT should occur but the most AWFULLY grim incidence that practically threw a barrel of MONKEY wrenches into the entire WORKS! I mean BULL suddenly appeared brandishing this large-sized MANUSCRIPT, and PROUDLY announced he'd been VITENTLY CON-secrating on his psychology course and had fixed up a PAPER on the subject that he wanted ARAB to CRITICIZE or something—can you COPE with it? ACTUALLY, my dear, I was TOO IMPRESSED because I mean I felt TERRIBLY encouraged about the situation on account of his taking enough INTEREST in his WORK all of a sudden to CON-secrate a little on it in his old Moments, but my dear, you SHOULD have seen ARAB exFRESH when he LOOKED at this strange little Essay or something that BULL had CAREFULLY PREPARED on the subject, because my dear, on the OUTSIDE of it the poor darling had scrawled 'S-I-G-H-C-O-L-L-E-G-E' or something—can you COPE with it? ACTUALLY, my dear, have you ever heard of ANYTHING so POSITIVELY PERVERSE? I mean even I know there's a 'P' in it SOMEWHERE, my dear—I mean I ACTUALLY DO!"

ROLL CALL TO START MONDAY

Red Cross Campaign in Rural Districts of Lancaster County.

In Lancaster county where the Community Chest campaign was not conducted, the annual Red Cross Roll call will be held this year from Armistice day, November 11, to Thanksgiving day, November 29.

Judge Barton Payne, chairman of the Red Cross central committee, will make a radio talk on a nationwide hookup between the hours of 8:15 to 9:30 p. m. November 10.

Following is the letter received by the Lincoln American Legion from National Commander Paul V. McNutt at Indianapolis:

A resolution by the national roll call advisory committee is as follows:
"The American Red Cross has appealed to the American people for a minimum of 5,000,000 men and women. An affirmative response to this appeal will serve as an endorsement of the work which this great humanitarian organization is doing today both in our own nation and throughout the world. Of even greater importance will be the guarantee which such a response will give that this service to humanity will continue unabated through the coming year.
"This appeal, we believe, is a direct challenge to the American people which must not be ignored. We are in complete accord with the wise policy of the American Red Cross which provides that the national and international work of that organization be financed by the relatively small membership dues paid by 5,000,000 Americans representing every section of our country, and every walk of life.
"The president of the United States has stated that the American Red Cross is as democratic as the people and the government which it serves. We believe that the American people are justly proud of this democratic principle of their Red Cross and will wish to safeguard it.
"We therefore urge that this, the tenth anniversary of the Armistice be commemorated by the American people by dedicating themselves anew to the relief of suffering through their Red Cross. We urge that the leaders of the 2,000 chapters of the American Red Cross take every possible action in order that the people may be given an opportunity to participate in Red Cross work through membership.
"The twelfth annual roll call of the American Red Cross will be conducted from Armistice day, November 11, to Thanksgiving day, November 29.
"During this period, legionnaires throughout the country will be invited to enroll or renew their memberships for 1929. Every member of the American Legion who finds it at all possible should be a member of the Red Cross.
"Your national commander requests that through bulletins, letters or other suitable mediums of publicity, you urge all Legionnaires in your department to rally to the call and support the good work of the Red Cross by taking out memberships.
"We are all aware of the close cooperation that exists between the American Legion and the Red Cross in both veteran relief work and community disaster relief. These two great organizations have much in common and their interests and service programs are interlinked and interdependent.
"The Red Cross is relying upon our support. Let us make it heartier than his officers anticipate."

MEEKER PLANS LEAVE OFFICE

State Finance Secretary Not Candidate For Reappointment.

State Finance Secretary David F. Meeker is not a candidate for reappointment to his $5,000-a-year position under the new state administration, he announced Saturday. He expects to take a trip to California and spend several months there before returning to Nebraska and entering some line of business activity. He has several offers from well-established concerns, he said, but will defer making up his mind in that regard until he comes back.

"No, I am not expecting to locate in California," Mr. Meeker assured newspaper men. "but I have always wanted to see that state and get acquainted with it; so I am going to take advantage of this opportunity for an extended visit there. Nebraska is good enough for me as a place of residence, however."

Mr. Meeker has been admitted to the bar and might either take up law practice or go into some other branch of business activity.
He said he would be ready to turn over the duties of his office "as soon as my successor is appointed." However, the finance department, of which he has been the head during the past two years, is slated to be abolished under the code-reform program of Governor-elect Weaver, who proposes to transfer its main functions to the state auditor and the tax commissioner. For that reason, it is not likely that any successor to Meeker will be appointed.

He began his service under the McMillen administration four years ago as private secretary to the governor. When D. S. Dalbey retired as finance secretary in 1927, Mr. Meeker was appointed to the place.

ABOUT PEOPLE

H. E. Byram, chairman of the board of directors of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railroad, was in Lincoln Saturday conferring with local officials of the Burlington.

Federal Judge Thomas C. Munger left for Chicago Friday afternoon. He will return Sunday, it was announced at his office Saturday morning, as the October term of the federal court reopens at 10:30 Monday morning.

Rev. Frederick W. Leavitt of Lincoln will preach the anniversary sermon Sunday morning, November 11 at the West Point Congregational church which is celebrating the fiftieth anniversary of its organization. Rev. Leavitt was ordained in this church and served as its pastor from 1899 to 1903. Mrs. O. C. Anderson, chaperone of the Alpha Phi sorority house and Miss Carolyn Leavitt, a daughter of Rev. Leavitt, will be guests at the anniversary banquet Saturday evening and will take part in the program.

A marriage license was issued in Council Bluffs Friday to Howard L. Weyland, 27, and Ruth Bunker, 18, both of Lincoln.

Today

Mr. Sloan's Hint.
Warships and Police.
Talkies Doom Whispers.
Lobsters and Bread.

By Arthur Brisbane.

When Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., head of General Motors, hints a pleasant surprise, he means it. A recent hint was printed before election. Now General Motors distributes a stock bonus of 150 per cent. He who had 100 shares will now have 250 shares. What is more important, cash dividends are increased by $43,000,000 a year.

The British, regretting the naval agreement with France, will drop that revival of prewar secrecy. President Coolidge told Wickham Steed that he wanted American to consider every British cruiser an additional pledge for American safety, and the British to consider every American cruiser an additional pledge for British safety.

Nations should feel about armament as individuals do about the police. An American in London is glad to see British police that mean protection for him, as a Britisher knows that the police here means his protection.

So it should be with warships and airships. In the meanwhile, this country should keep ready, remembering that one secret treaty may be followed by another.

Whiskers must go, mustaches, goatees, included. They interfere with clearness of speech in talking moving pictures. Public men using the "talkies" and the radio need clear voices.

Alexander the Great made his soldiers shave their faces and cut their hair short on top for a more practical reason. The long hair was a hindrance in the field. He was followed by Caesar and Napoleon, anxious to be like Alexander.

In Alexander's day a soldier fighting with the short sword had the unpleasant habit of seizing his enemy by the whiskers with his left hand, chopping the enemy's head off with the right. No whiskers, nothing for the enemy to take hold.

The Chinese were forced by nomadic conquerors to let their hair grow long, that the conquerors might better seize the long pig-tails in chopping off heads. Eventually Chinese men grew proud of their pig-tails, as Chinese women grew proud of the cramped feet forced upon them that they might not run away. Such is human nature.

Presently you will begin reading sayings of Herbert Hoover. One, "The chicken in the pot," is good. Henry the Fourth's remark about "The chicken in the pot," is good. The Hoover saying goes: "I don't care how much they charge for lobster, but I do care how much they charge for bread."

This is "cancer week." Many important scientific institutions are holding special clinics in honor of the week. "Cancer week" is not a pleasant sound, but it is an important week. R. W. Riles of the American Society for the Control of Cancer, reminds you that the horrible disease kills 115,000 Americans every year.

The week is devoted to an educational campaign, based on "fight cancer with knowledge; take it early and cure it." Three-quarters of all cancers could be cured, 80,000 lives saved every year if small "growths" were not ignored or neglected.

Cancer of the breast, most common in women, is easily cured if taken in time. A Pennsylvania judge decided that what a woman says, talking in her sleep, cannot be used against her in a divorce case.

That is fortunate for women, who at least should have a right to dream as they please. It is what they think, without saying it, cannot be used against them.

Solly Wertheim, defeated in a transaction, said to his opponent with deep feeling, "For what I am thinking about you, I could be put in jail."

And for what some women think about their husbands, almost anything could be done to them.

That Herbert Hoover will ask Andrew Mellon to remain in the cabinet is taken for granted. Mellon's willingness to continue public work will be welcome news to the whole country.

Business men will read with satisfaction of Mr. Hoover's plans for building United States trade abroad. Part of the plan includes careful selection of competent business men for United States consular places of politicians that need jobs.

Yesterday Germany celebrated the tenth birthday of the republic in a rather gloomy mood.

The birthday of the republic recalls defeat by the allies of the German empire, and Germany does not make a national holiday of the republic's birthday.

That will change probably when Germany realizes how grateful it would be to have escaped Hohenzollern foolishness that proved so costly.

At least Germany's next war will be started by the Germans not ended to them.

NAVY MAN HELD AFTER EXPLOSION

ALCOHOL SUPPLY

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Nov. 10.—(AP)—W. W. Seagriff of the navy, attached to the torpedo school here, died Harry McArthur, a civilian said to live in Los Angeles, were burned, probably fatally, last night in an apartment explosion which police said was caused by exploding alcohol.

Ensign Joseph B. Danhoff, also stationed at the navy yard here, was arrested on a charge of violation of the state prohibition act. Danhoff had the two men burned were in the small kitchen of the apartment where a kerosene lamp used to light the place was burning. Suddenly there was an explosion, he said, and the two men rushed out, enveloped in flames.

SEEK KIDNAPERS MISS PICKFORD

Police Find Fingerprints On Car in Which Mary's Sister Rode.

Screen Actress Beaten and Robbed; Daugherty Blackjacked.

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 10.—(AP)—Having but one slender clue to the identity of four men who were reported to have beaten, robbed and kidnapped Miss Lottie Pickford, the screen actress and sister of Mary Pickford, after blackjacking her companion, police today sought to pick up their trail by a study of fingerprints.

Officers were put on the trail yesterday after Miss Pickford had reported that the four men accosted her and her escort, Jack Daugherty, former husband of the late Barbara La Marr, early yesterday. She said the men used a blackjack on Daugherty, robbed them both of a small amount of cash and then carried her off. She was freed when she had pleaded with her captors in Spanish.

Fingerprints found on Miss Pickford's automobile in which she and Daugherty had been riding, were checked with police records.

Accompanied by detectives, the actress and Daugherty last night went through that part of east Los Angeles where they had said they were taken by the bandits. They were unable to point out the exact spot where their adventure occurred. The part of the city that they toured is a district where a large negro and Mexican population lives.

Daugherty Blackjacked.

After the return from the tour the detectives said little progress had been made in the investigation.

The actress and Daugherty said they spent the night of Thursday night in a night club in that district departing some time after 2 a. m. Miss Pickford said she and Daugherty stopped to ask directions to Hollywood as they drove home. They made inquiry of the four men on a street in the district they said, but instead of pointing out the way, the four proceeded to blackjack Daugherty, knocking him unconscious. They then beat and kicked her, Miss Pickford said.

Saved Valuable Jewels.

The actress declared the men commandeered her car, and holding her prisoner, drove to a point which she was unable to identify. There they robbed her of $75 in cash, but she saved several diamond rings by hiding them in her shoes. She hid a pearl necklace in her dress and said the bandits bent a $4,000 diamond and platinum bracelet while trying to rip it from her wrist.

"O Madre!" murmured by the actress while she was being taken, was given credit by Miss Pickford for play shown her by the leader of the band. The men returned her to the spot where Daugherty had been left and then disappeared she said.

This is the third time in which members of the Pickford family have figured in reported abduction plots. The other two, in which Mary Pickford was supposed to have been the victim, never progressed beyond the plot stage. In the first plot two men later were sentenced to penitentiary terms. In the other asserted kidnapping plot no one was ever caught.

LUKE ADVOCATES REGISTRATION OF UNEMPLOYED MEN

"Lincoln's resident labor server should have first consideration getting opportunities for work," said W. A. Luke, secretary of the Y. M. C. A., at an open meeting of the Lincoln Central Labor union at the Labor temple Friday night.

A system of registration for the unemployed was suggested by the speaker. Resident and non-resident workers would have separate certificates to present to prospective employers.

The university and other factors make the local employment situation complicated, so non-resident labor enters periodically to take places which rightfully belong to resident labor, he said.

Following Mr. Luke's talk, there was a general discussion of the labor situation in Lincoln. I. S. Betzer presided.

CHILD HURT WHEN TWO CARS COLLIDE

A collision of cars driven by Fred Sundeen, 3000 Starr street, and Elmer Conner, 2314 O'Connell street, at Twenty-third and Holdrege streets about 7 o'clock Friday evening, resulted in some damage to both cars and slight injury to 6-year-old Agnes Dundee, also of 2314 Orchard street, who was riding with Miss Conner. Two of the little girl's front teeth were knocked loose and she was bruised.

LANHAM HEARING HELD SATURDAY

Unconscious Curtis Youth Charged With Killing Sweetheart.

CURTIS, Nev., Nov. 10.—The preliminary hearing of Kenneth Lanham has been set for today at Stockville, the inland county seat of Frontier county. Lanham, Curtis youth is charged with the killing of Catherine Carter on October 18. He has been in jail at Stockville under treatment by a physician, and was to have been taken from there to Stockville this morning.

County Attorney Schroeder has kept his moves in the case entirely secret for the last week.

"Nigger Nate" Raymond (above), Pacific coast gambler who came to New York on his honeymoon and cut in on lion's share of Arnold Rothstein's $300,000 card losses. He was questioned by police in gambler-king's mystery shooting and later allowed to go free.

ACTRESS TO GET GAMBLER'S GOLD

Former Show Girl Will Get Part of Rothstein's $10,000,000 Estate.

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—(AP)—A former show girl is to receive one-sixth of the income from the estate left by Arnold Rothstein, slain gambler, under terms of a will signed on his death bed.

Although the will has not been filed for probate its provisions were made known by the slain gambler's associates. His estate is estimated at $10,000,000, but much of this is said to consist of heavily mortgaged real estate and loans granted gamblers.

The girl legatee is Inez Norton, who has been living at the Fairfield hotel, owned by Rothstein. Of her his associates knew little except that she had been a show girl and was a divorcee. Her one-sixth interest in the income is to run only for ten years.

Rothstein's widow, from whom he had been estranged but who visited him at the hospital after he was shot last Sunday, receives the income from one-third of the estate to go to charity. His two brothers, Jack and Edgar, are to receive outright $60,000 and $50,000, respectively, and the income from 20 per cent of the estate for ten years. His three executors, Maurice Cantor, his attorney, Samuel Brown and William Wellman are to receive one-sixth of his estate. Other bequests were $15,000 to Thomas Farley, Rothstein's negro valet, and the income for ten years from a $75,000 trust fund to Sidney Stager.

No mention was made of his parents, who are moderately wealthy. Rothstein said he had provided for them before his death.

The will was drawn two weeks before Rothstein's death.

Waudby Lectures On Landscape Gardening

C. E. Waudby of Des Moines delivered an illustrated lecture on landscape gardening before the Lincoln Garden club at Morrill hall Friday night. It was the first of a series to be delivered during the winter months on home ornamentation through a garden. Part of his illustrations were taken from gardens in Iowa and Nebraska.

SMITH TO MAKE FAREWELL TALK

Governor Will Deliver Radio Message to People Tuesday.

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—(AP)—Governor Smith will deliver a "Message to the American People" over a nationwide radio hookup Tuesday night.

Announcement of the address was made by democratic national headquarters but no one professed to know what its nature would be. A statement the governor made at Albany in a conference with reporters, however, led many to believe that it would be nonpartisan and made in an attempt to heal the wounds left by the political campaign.

"Every man, when elected to office," the governor said, "is entitled to a full, fair chance to make good and Mr. Hoover should have every assistance from every citizen."

The governor's first thought last Tuesday night, one of his close political advisors said, was not how the defeat affected him personally nor primarily how it would affect his party, but how the bitterness engendered in the campaign might be dispelled.

In a way the talk probably will be the governor's political valedictory to the people. He announced after his defeat that he would never run for public office again.

Forty-one stations headed by WEAF will participate in the broadcast of the speech.

MANIU BOWS TO KING MICHAEL

New Rumanian Premier Acknowledges Regency and Monarch.

BUCHAREST, Rumania, Nov. 10.—(AP)—It was learned today that Premier Iuliu Maniu had acknowledged the regency and the 7-year-old King Michael unconditionally in return for his mandate to form a cabinet.

Some observers had feared that M. Maniu, who heads the past party and is a man of republican tendencies, might in time attempt to do away with royalty.

Maniu also pledged himself solemnly not to bring up the question of the return of former Crown Prince Carol during the eleven years of King Michael's minority.

The present leader and his colleagues will take the oath to support the constitution, the regency and the entire dynasty late today. Afterwards the new cabinet, which is succeeding that of Vintila Bratianu, will hold its first session and formulate the main line of its policy.

Parliament will be dissolved next week and a new election will be declared within a month.

Revised Cabinet List.

Membership of the Maniu cabinet was changed during the night. The revised cabinet list is as follows:

Premier: Iuliu Maniu.
Foreign minister: M. Mircescu.
Minister of the interior: A. Valda.
Minister of war: General Seiko-chi.
Minister of education: M. Mihl-lachi.

Industry: V. N. Madjeare.
Finance: Michael Popovich.
Justice: C. Junian.
Labor: M. Joanitescu.

There will be a complete reorganization of Rumania's diplomatic service and it is probable that the present ministers at Paris, Berlin and other important capitals will be changed.

GAS WELL FIRE ENDANGERS OIL

Desperate Effort Being Made to Extinguish California Blaze.

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 10.—(AP)—The menacing pillar of fire shooting heavenward from the burning gas well at Santa Fe Springs, Cal., was declared today by oil company executives to have subjected the entire petroleum field to danger. Their estimates of damage already caused by the spectacular blaze ran as high as $5,000,000.

Long lines of fire fighters worked feverishly through the early morning hours, struggling to set up a network of pipe lines in an effort to play heavy streams of mud and steam on the raging well, nine days have been destroyed, another well was threatening to burst into flames, and production at fourteen wells has been stopped, a consideration which was taken into the damage estimate.

After a study of the endangers field last night, a committee of oil executives headed by Harry H. Maderen, general field superintendent of the Texaco Co., reported that every major project in the great oil area faced trouble.

More than a thousand men have been mustered to fight the roaring blaze.

OFFICERS DOUBT SHOOTING STORY

Memphis Youth, 18, Fatally Wounded; Girl's Story Proved False.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Nov. 10.—(AP)—Deputy sheriffs investigating the fatal shooting last night of Robert McDonald, 18, and the wounded young girl, companion announced early today that their findings had discredited the story of a freak accident told by the girl and several friends.

The officers said McDonald was shot three times through the body and not once as told in first accounts which described the shooting as having resulted when the two entered McDonald's car and in some manner jarred a rifle lying on the rear seat.

Miss Beth Seavers, 14, the girl with McDonald, was wounded about the eye. She told officers and doctors at a hospital that the same bullet which struck her glanced from her head into McDonald's body. This story the officers declared, was proved false by the later findings.

As Rogers Sees It

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—Offers pouring in all day for the purchase of the democrats. All want the title but no one wants any of the cast. I bet preachers are looking for a new act more than I am after election. It will take them months to get their minds back on religion. Nobody knows yet who is governor in this state. There is a Jewish fellow running, and if he gets it and makes a good governor for four terms, why the religious issue won't come up again for president till 1936. Smith carried all the democratic states he didn't go into, and Hoover had a cinch in all the republican ones he didn't speak in. I believe a "dumb" candidate could have beat 'em both.

Yours, WILL.

WORLD PEACE BANQUET HELD

Speakers Say Signing of Armistice Was Victory Over War.

Students from many lands attended the International friendship banquet and armistice celebration held Friday night at the First Christian church, Sixteenth and K streets.

The meeting was sponsored by church workers in the university and Lincoln young people's societies. Richard Smith was toastmaster. More than 200 attended.

Most of the speakers touched on the significance of the armistice. The idea was brought out that the armistice was one not of victory over Germany as much as victory over war by peace. The selfish attitude of the United States in its interpretation of the Monroe doctrine and the tendency of the strong nations to reap the maximum benefits of the League of Nations and the Kellogg pact met criticism.

The program was as follows:
Invocation Rev. Dean H. Leland
Invocation James Cuno
Argentina William Yin
China Jugal Dhillon
India Claude H. O'Conor
Japan Fred Y. Miyaki
Philippines H. Nagai
Russia Harold Cooper
Closing prayer Rev. Ervine Inglis

TRAIN ROBBERY SUSPECT TAKEN

Trap Laid by Fort Worth Police; Woman and Man Caught.

FORT WORTH, Tex., Nov. 10.—(AP)—Following the trial of a woman who appeared late last night under a viaduct, where officers had found $50,300 in currency after a Texas & Pacific mail train robbery, police early today arrested a man whom they believed staged the bold holdup.

The woman was captured by policemen who lay in waiting for an envoy of the train robber to call for the loot, found at the place where the man quit the train a mile outside Fort Worth. Going to her home, the officers found a man, whose shoes had been freshly cleaned, but which showed traces of mud similar in color to that under the viaduct. He was arrested.

Keeping "Blind Date."

The woman, whose name was not revealed, accounted for her presence at the place by saying she was "keeping a blind date." Police said her husband is serving a penitentiary term.

The train robber appeared suddenly in the mail car of the train as it left Fort Worth, and forced M. E. Pruitt and P. E. Carney, clerks into mail cars which he drew together and locked. Seizing the currency, a consignment to the Dallas Federal Reserve bank from banks in Abilene, Cisco and Seymour, Tex., he jumped from the train as it gathered speed. A small satchel, containing the money in $5, $10 and $20 bills, was found shortly afterward by police and the trap was laid.

It was believed the robber boarded the train west of Fort Worth.

MOTORIST PARKS AUTO AND FLEES AFTER COLLISION

After an auto crash at Eighteenth and N streets Friday evening in which a car driven by Ralph McWilliams, colored, 2245 T street, was damaged considerably and his daughter Ruth, 14, was injured, the unknown driver of the other automobile parked his machine a block away, jumped out, jerked off the license plates and fled in the darkness.

Splain and Schnell's ambulance took Miss McWilliams to St. Elizabeth's hospital where Dr. George E. Lewis, city physician, attended her. He took several stitches to close two lacerations on the girl's right temple and dressed other minor cuts and bruises. Ruth was hurt painfully but not seriously, he said.

Police brought the abandoned machine to the station where they are holding it. The car is a new coupe and belongs to a local auto dealer and said Saturday he did not know who was using it Friday evening. It was damaged considerably.

THE JOYOUSNESS OF YOUTH

"Life is cruel," writes a correspondent of this newspaper, who describes herself as a woman of forty, the idolized mother of a comfortable household.

"Why does life give us the joyousness of youth, only to snatch it away from us?" Happily she is charging life with something which she should put down to her own personal account.

There is something refreshing and inspiring in youth. It has a vitality, a buoyancy, an unsullied optimism about it that is engaging and intriguing. It is free from cynicism, from mistrust and suspicion, from shattered ideals and blasted hopes and dreams. It has not tasted of life and it avidly looks forward to the time when it shall have established itself and shall have carved for itself a record of its own.

Even Nature glorifies youth. The most choice rose is the one which is just bursting into bloom. There are few men and still fewer women who can wear wrinkles becomingly. There is a slenderness or a liteness to youth which disappears when one rounds the corner at forty to forty-five. Now it is said that primitive people still profess a deep admiration for plumpness, and some of us confess to a old-fashioned liking for curves. There is no glory in the double chins and the heavy jaws of middle age and old age but mind you, we are still dwelling upon the physical and not the mental.

The joyousness of youth as applied to the mental state of the individual is not measured by years. It has been our good fortune and privilege to meet many good men and women, whose hair has silvered, whose steps are not as elastic as they were, who may have become corpulent but who are still as youthful in mind as the youngsters who throng the stands of the college football fields.

It is indeed a tragedy when one loses the joyousness of youth in their outlook upon the world. The sunshine fades and shadows usher in the chill and the gloom.

What is the vital spark which makes youth joyous? It is nothing more than interest in the things around them and in the people around them. Even the same thing unfolding a hundred times before our eyes should have some fresh significance and some charm. Even the same people, saying the same things in the same language and under similar circumstances, should not destroy our interest in them. Imagination is what supplies color to this world of ours. It takes the same drab facts and dresses them in new clothes until we cannot recognize them.

By her own confession this correspondent admits her acquaintances whom she cherishes deeply get upon her nerves until she wants to scream and to escape contact with them. There are few of us born to the role of great adventure or extraordinary romance. For most of us life is the placid stream. No one is handed a philosophical attitude toward life upon a platter but for each individual who acquires it, there is sacrifice and struggle and renunciation. Happy, then, is the individual who can truthfully say that they have conquered their own unrest. Fortunate is he who can greet each morning with renewed enthusiasm, with new zeal and spirit.

Ambition, properly guided and correctly measured, is natural and highly desirable. Without it we could not progress. But when we permit it to disturb our steps and to crucify the peace and contentment of our minds, we do ourselves a sad wrong.

In this country even the humblest citizen occupies a higher stage of living than was ever the lot of man before. There is reason for optimism, for cheerfulness, for kindness and for joyousness. If those who conquered Nebraska could grow old gracefully and splendidly there is no excuse for anyone living here today to be quarreling with the advance of years. So much that had been a mystery has been revealed, so much has been added to make life pleasant and comfortable, people have so many opportunities to add new interests and to improve their minds, that it is amazing anyone should find occasion for the spirit of boredom expressed by the writer of the letter.

MASSACHUSETTS FAVORS REPEAL

Voters in 33 of 40 Districts Against Prohibition Amendment.

BOSTON, Nov. 10.—(AP)—Repeal of the prohibition amendment found favor with Massachusetts voters in thirty-three out of forty state senatorial districts at Tuesday's general election by a decisive margin.
In four districts the question did not appear on the ballot, but the limit of permissible public questions had already been reached in those districts before that on prohibition was proposed.
Three districts, consisting chiefly of towns in Plymouth county and on Cape Cod, Franklin and Hampshire, largely rural in population, and the Norfolk and Middlesex, rural and suburban, returned adverse majorities.

The question, as submitted, read: "Shall the senator from this district be instructed to vote for a resolution requesting congress to take action for the repeal of the eighteenth amendment to the constitution of the United States, known as the eighteenth amendment?"

All Boston districts were heavily in favor of instructing their senators. The constitutional liberty league, which was largely instrumental in having the question placed on the ballot, made an unofficial and incomplete tabulation of the vote showing a "yes" count of 619,000, against a "no" vote of 347,910. The net plurality with seventy-five towns missing was 271,902.

states will elect their judges on party tickets; in some other they are appointed by governors as part of the spoils system. But here the judiciary has been completely removed from the domain of partisan politics.

When Nebraska voters go to the polls they receive, in addition to the regular ballot, another sheet headed "Nonpolitical," which contains the names of candidates for supreme, district court, and county judges. On this ticket no party designations appear after the names, and there is no party circle at the top for casting a straight vote. The only way to express a preference is by making a cross in the square preceding the name of the particular candidate whose election is desired.

This method compels every judicial nominee, theoretically at least, to run on his own merits and prestige. There have been instances, of course, where a bench candidate garnered votes for himself through the fortunate circumstance of possessing the same surname as some other well known judge. Generally speaking, however, the nonpolitical ballot subjects those seeking court seats to the test of personal fitness, at the same time eliminating the element of party politics.

In the late election, which was an unprecedented landslide for the republican party on the regular national and state tickets, it so happened that the two men elected to the supreme bench are both democrats. One has been a member of the high tribunal for a number of years. The other, has heretofore been serving on the district court in Douglas county.

Had the choice between them and their opponents been determined in the old way, by voting for them on party tickets, neither Judge Dean nor Judge Day would have been elected, in all probability. They would have been merely part of the tail that goes with the hide. In other words, their fate at the election would have been decided by the preponderance of straight party votes, which in turn would have hinged upon the preference of the electorate between candidates for president.

In Lancaster county, the outcome on district judges likewise exemplifies the virtue of the Nebraska non-partisan judiciary system. Of four magistrates chosen, two are members of each political party, and the one receiving the highest vote of all is a democrat. The personnel of the court during the next four years will be divided in an ideal way, constituting a guarantee that politics will play no part in its deliberations and findings.

The state supreme court now contains five republicans and two democrats, two of the former serving by gubernatorial appointment. After January 3, the membership will consist of four republicans and three democrats. Here, again, the state of Nebraska will be effectively safe-guarded against partisanship in the judiciary.

Compare these conditions with those prevailing in Chicago, where many judges are elected as political henchmen of the city organization controlling the local election machinery. One of these judges is now on trial in connection with disorders at the primaries last spring resulting in one murder and the theft of a number of ballot boxes and poll books.

COAL IN INDUSTRY.

According to experts who have been making a survey of future supplies of fuel for industrial purposes in the United States, coal is destined to hold its own in competition with oil and during the next few years will establish its unquestioned supremacy in that field. More scientific means of combustion to extract a greater amount of heat, together with the elimination of freight charges by manufacturing gas near the coal mines and piping it to nearby cities, will bring about that development.

It may be that an increasing proportion of the nation's homes will be heated by oil in preference to coal as time goes on, because of its comparative cleanliness and the elimination of personal attention to furnaces and the handling of ashes.

Henry Ford's steel plants are now utilizing powdered coal with excellent results. It flows in a stream, easily regulated, into the furnaces, pouring in at the top and being entirely consumed in the course of its descent to the firebed. This method is said to leave a negligible amount of ash residue, as most of the small percentage of waste matter goes out through the smokestack. Other big concerns are taking up the Ford scheme and getting more out of their fuel than ever before.

The chief point in coal's favor is that the bosom of the earth still contains vast quantities of it, while many oil beds are beginning to show signs of exhaustion from the heavy drain made upon them. Demand for the latter commodity grows rapidly from year to year in the form of motor vehicle fuel. This demand will not abate, even if prices should advance; whereas, any material increase in the cost of oil will cause a great many consumers to turn at once to coal.

Some of the big railroads, notably the Pennsylvania and the Milwaukee, have begun the use of electric motive power on a large scale, which means that they will stick to coal as the power-producing quantity.

Super-power systems distributing electric current over wide areas are also finding coal the more economical source of generated energy for transmission by wire. Electricity, like gas, can be manufactured in the mining districts and furnished to distant consuming centers at less cost than the freight and other handling charges on coal or oil.

One of the advantages of using coal to make gas is that the process yields by-products worth about $15 per ton, where elements are lost where coal is burned in ordinary furnaces. The cash returns from these by-products will enable gas manufacturers to pipe and sell it in available territory at prices low enough to attract a large patronage.

County Officials Counting Ballots Of Absent Voters

Three officials who started Saturday morning to count the 1,032 absent voters' ballots cast in Lancaster county had progressed at 11 o'clock only as far as opening the envelopes. Though they may be able to finish the job today, they will have to work this evening.

Though District Judge Jefferson Broadby, with his lead of 250 votes over Frank Peterson, is fairly sure of continuing on the bench, it is possible that either Mr. Peterson or Judge Mason Wheeler will glean a big enough margin from the absent voters' ballots to obtain the fourth judgeship. The other three places are assured for J. Edgar Shepherd, E. B. Chappell and Lincoln Frost.

Dr. Weinman Wins Right to Operate Animal Hospital

Dr. Joseph Weinman, veterinarian, was found not guilty by a District court jury Friday afternoon of maintaining a nuisance in the form of an animal hospital at 2525 O street.
His appeal from a $50 fine in Municipal court was thus successful. Neighbors of the doctor instigated the action because of alleged disturbances at the hospital. Dr. Weinman denied that his establishment emitted much noise and argued also that it is within the commercial district and that he obtained a city permit to build it.

ALMA ASHLEY IS PRESIDENT NEW TEACHERS GROUP

Alma Ashley, teacher in the district 76 rural school, was elected president of a new organization formed by 100 instructors in vitalized agriculture who met Saturday at the court house.
Freda Richter of district 79 was chosen vice president and Mrs. C. Christopherson of district 38, treasurer. Miss Euphemia Peterson, the county nurse, also was present and gave a talk on hot lunches.

JOBS OPEN FOR 50 CORNHUSKERS

With fifty jobs for cornhuskers going begging, there is little excuse, says County Agent J. F. Purbag, for any man in Lincoln to be without work.
The season's first snow having melted, farmers are more than anxious to get their corn in the bin. Delay might mean more rain or snow and great waste in the fields. Prices of 6 and 7 cents a bushel are being paid, yet scarcely any workers apply at the court house for jobs.

Denies Assault Charge — Helen McEntraffer, 2748 Madison street, entered a plea of not guilty in Municipal court Saturday to charge of assault and battery on Ruth E. Boward, the complainant. Hearings was set for November 17 when J. F. Purbag is expected to make a personal recognition bond of $200. The alleged assault took place on November 6.

Everyday Questions Answered By DR. S. PARKES CADMAN

Questions from Lincoln Star readers are answered daily by the Rev. Dr. S. Parkes Cadman, president of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America. Dr. Cadman seeks to answer inquiries that appear to be representative of the trends of thought in the many letters which he receives.

Richmond, Va.
Will you kindly give your opinion as to the value of the teachings of the Yoga Sutras of Pantanjali and about when was this book written?
Dr. Martin, the well known lecturer on ethics and an authority on the religions of the east, states that this book was written about 150 B. C. Some critics, however, place it as far back as 400 B. C. It does not contain a trace of the Hindu religious literature since its reasonings as a philosophic work are identified with the atheistic metaphysics of Buddhism.
Yet curiously enough adherents of the cult established by its author, hold to the suppression of the intellectual life as a means for obtaining the emancipation of the ego. Once this is freed the disciple is said to be endowed with occult powers and land becomes a supernatural being.

Kanora, Canada.
How would you suggest starting a young people's society in a Protestant church and what programs are best suited to keep it alive after it has been inaugurated?
We have made one attempt in this direction, beginning with a church supper at which we had one hundred present. Then by dint of hard labor on the part of a committee we managed to struggle through the winter with various programs, and kept a small proportion of the members who came to the first supper. When the summer came everything was broken up and it was necessary to commence again in the fall. It seems to be the general opinion that this procedure is useless and not worth the while of a few faithful workers.

Please give us your answer.
Your letter gives no hint that you began by ascertaining the vital interests of the young people. If not, no wonder the plan faltered in execution. Christian churches must face the fact that a new generation confronts them with questions that demand and must receive adequate answers. Too often they offer youth the viewpoints and standards of adults. These sometimes lack spontaneity, freedom and applicability. Consequently they fail by reason of their incoherence to grasp the actual situation. I have no doubt that the youth movement, in so far as it definitely exists, is responsive to high ideals. But young men and women refuse to accept the dictation of older ones who do not sympathize with their eager impulses and adventurous ways. Suppers and their bodies and promote a measure of sociability. But they do not feed their souls nor satisfy the doubts and queries of inquiring minds. I would not try to buy the support of adolescents with perishable bread. Why not essay the more difficult task of providing a program which deals frankly with questions now to the front, relates them to the eternal verities, and transmits them through competent advisers?

Include in it the study of literature of the drama of personal, political and industrial problems of Christianity's connection with these problems. Nobody else reads "What Ails Our Youth," by George A. Coe, and "The Handbook for Workers With the Young," by James V. Thompson. I venture the prediction that a policy shaped on the lines suggested will secure attention from those whom you wish to serve.
New Hampton, N. H.
I have noticed that the boys about me in prep school believe there is a God. I have fought that out within myself and believe in a Supreme Being with absolute sincerity. Probably nobody else sees him as I do, but I see, and that's the important matter for me.
But among all the religious leaders and prophets of the world, it is one who believes the greatest and noblest by far—called the Son of God.
My mother tells me I should be more lazier to accept him with faith, but my education so far has made me try to philosophize. This question has troubled me for a long time and I have been unable to find any answer which satisfies me. I have come to you, in whose ability I have confidence.
Jesus is called the Christ and the Son of God because of His unique relation to the Father of all spirits. His fellowship with that Father was undisturbed by sin in thought, word or deed. Hence the Church believes in and proclaims His Divinity by the title of Son of God, and also stresses His humanity as the Son of Man.
Both titles endeavor to express His Personality, which revealed a character so sublimely perfect that those who stood nearest to Him hailed Him as the Word of God, the Prince of Peace and the Saviour of men. The experience of all believers confirms this tribute to His supremacy.
You are right in desiring to rationalize your faith. In doing so, however, remember that your acceptance of Christ on His own terms, and the assiduous practice of His teachings impart to you a knowledge of Him as the Lord of all good life which can be obtained in no other way. CHAPTER TEN.
The Warning.

Louis Van Dorn and the man he had called Dr. McEasters ascended to the former's suite after Shirley had been left in the tea-room.

They were silent until the door of the sitting room closed behind them.

—Then Louis said lightly: "Have a shot of something?"

The older man shook his head.

"Mind if I do? I've had the heebie-jeebies all day."

As he poured himself a drink, his thin, aristocratic hand was not quite steady. Tossing off the liquor, he lit a cigarette, seated himself in an easy chair, and said genially: "Well, Doc, what's on your mind?"

"The old man turned dark, haunted eyes upon him."

"The same thing. Always the same thing."

Louis made a grimace and then reached for his check-book, but his visitor stopped him with a gesture.

"No good, —ou I can't go on. I'm an old man now. I've been pretty ill. I'm dying. Cancer. I've got to tell the truth and square myself before I pass over."

Louis frowned.

"Rot! Don't be a sentimentalist at this time of life. What good could it do?"

"It could right a great wrong. It could give a fortune to the uses for which it was intended, under the circumstances."

"You're a fool of charities? No, my ancient friend, the best that could come of it would be to put you and me behind the bars."

"I have a long to live."

Van Dorn's harsh laugh interrupted him.

"Well, I hope I have. And believe me, I have no desire to be butchered to make your Rot a holiday."

"I tell you I'm dying. I've got to face it."

"Melodramatic twaddle! You've had cold feet over our little deal every so often for eighteen years—every time, in fact, that you needed a little money."

"I've retired from practice. I'm sick. I haven't much money to live on," said the other sulkily.

Louis leaned forward. His eyes were like merciless pin-points.

"Yes. And I happen to know why you retired from practice. Too many little greenbacks, eh, Doc?"

"All that is past," mumbled the older man. "I tell you, I'm dying. I regret the things I did in my youth. I had excuses—my wife was an invalid—"

Louis rose wearily and crossed to the desk, where he selected a pen and drew out his check-book again. "Spare me the sobs, Mac. How much is it?"

"Nothing, I tell you. Nothing. Except a warning. I'm going to confess."

"Are you mad?"

The other shook his head.

Louis scowled at the repentant old man.

"Just what crazy notion have you got in the back of your head?"

"I want to tell the truth," insisted the other.

"Tell that you deliberately falsified a birth certificate? Tell that you've been receiving money regularly all these years, to keep your mouth shut? — Are you that crazy?"

Before his wrathful gaze, the old man showed a trace of fire.

"I don't fool late. You haven't had the money long. You can give it back."

"Have it taken from me—you mean—with me in a nice striped suit? Well, you'd be wearing one of the same stripe. Don't forget that."

"I don't care," was the weary reply. "When you're near the end, things like that don't count. I've had lots of time to think lately. It didn't seem so bad, all these years when you weren't profiting by my

"Oh, sure, lady. I knowed you liked the big ones best, and I put 'em where you would not have to hunt so hard for 'em. That's as honest as I know how to be."

Louis leaned toward his visitor. His eyes glittered. It was the expression he wore just before he made a coup. His intimates knew it well.

But, when he spoke, his voice was slack and low.

"There's one other thing to consider, McEasters. Do you recall the death of a certain man named Alex Corliss, who lived down our way. I know you, you've been in his inheritance quite a bit of money from him, didn't you? He smiled when he saw the old man willing. 'Ever stop to think what the authorities would say over the question of his death?' You attended him. It may have been malpractice—or it may have been murder!"

The old man made a queer, whimpering sound.

"You heard—"

Louis laughed softly.

"I was on to that, Mac, before I ever made my little proposition to you that night eighteen years ago. If you hadn't agreed for a—er—consideration, I'd have sprung the other. You've a married daughter, Mac, and grandchildren. It wouldn't be a pretty legacy for them, would it? A good deal worse than the mere matter of making a mistake over a birth certificate."

The old man rose wearily.

"All right, Louis. You have your way now. But, on the day I die, I swear to you that I'll tell the truth. They can't get me for anything, then, but they can get you. And I'll tell it, if it's with my last breath."

Louis laughed softly.

"You'll have other things to think of when you draw your last breath, Mac." He held out a check he had written, but the old man shook his head.

"The other was your money. This is hers. I won't take that."

When the door had closed behind him, Louis poured out another little drink.

"Poor old crazy fool!"

He laughed. He felt very safe.

BURGESS BEDTIME STORIES

A Joyous Fright
BY THORNTON W. BURGESS.

When we are beset by fear It happens joy is often near.
—Old Mother Nature.

Rusty the Fox Squirrel, hiding in the deserted home of Johnny Chuck, was becoming more and more convinced that Reddy Fox really had gone away. Not since he had heard the faint barking of Reddy, as if he were a long way off, had Rusty heard a sound to indicate that Reddy was anywhere around.

"He must have gone away," said Rusty to himself. "I don't believe that he would have patience enough to keep hidden all this time. No, sir, I don't believe he would have patience enough."

Which shows how little Rusty really knew Reddy Fox. Reddy was hiding right within two jumps of the back entrance or the front entrance to that Chuck house in which Rusty was hiding. Not only was he there, but he intended to stay there for the rest of the day if necessary. Reddy has no lack of patience when there is a good dinner to be obtained. How Reddy would have chuckled could he have known what Rusty's thoughts were. Things were working just exactly as he had hoped they would.

Reddy was so intent on watching those two entrances that he once he failed to keep watch elsewhere. So he didn't see Bowser the Hound trotting across the Green Meadows. Didn't see Bowser until suddenly Bowser slipped out of the bushes along the old fence almost in front of the front entrance to that Chuck house. Bowser saw at once that some fresh digging had been going on there, and he didn't see Reddy living flat in the grass and bushes. He walked straight up to that hole and gave a mighty sniff.

Not just a very instant that Bowser sniffed Rusty the Fox Squirrel had started to come out. He had made up his mind that the way was clear. So he was just making ready to poke his head out when Bowser thrust his nose in and sniffed. If there had been room Rusty certainly would have fallen over backward. Never had he had a worse fright. It sent the color from his face. At first he couldn't think what it meant. He couldn't believe that Reddy Fox could sniff like that. But it was only for a moment that he was in doubt. Then he heard the great deep voice of Bowser the Hound as Bowser picked up the trail of Reddy Fox.

Such a load of anxiety as Rusty

Rusty did a little dance of joy on the fence post. Then he took a hasty but careful look in every direction. The way was clear. No where could he see a member of the Hawk family. Bowser the Hound made it certain that there was nothing to fear from Reddy Fox, or Mrs. Reddy, or Old Man Coyote. Rusty jumped down from his post and started across the Green Meadows to the south. He had resumed the long journey he had started that morning.

Diet and Health

By Lulu Hunt Peters, M. D.
Author of "Diet and Health" and "Diet for Children."

EXERCISE, EAT BALANCED FOOD AND BE YOUNG AT SEVENTY ODD.

"I am not overweight, but being a dancer, I have to watch, for I am one of those mortals who cannot eat a chocolate without its sticking out on me! I really feel much better living on the leafy vegetables, fresh fruits, milk, and meat once a day, than when I indulge in fried foods, heavy desserts, etc."

"There is not a day that passes without my stretching and limbering exercises. A number of them seem similar to yours, and we call them 'reconditioning exercises,' and I give them freely to my pupils. They distribute the flesh evenly and properly, making the fat one thin and the thin one fat. They are normalizing, in other words. A number of my pupils have benefited by the combined efforts of diet and exercise."

"We all have a dread of fat in our family, even did before it was fashionable to be portly. My mother cooks as many non-fattening foods as she can locate in the markets, and we are the healthiest family living. Dad, mother and aunt are in the 70's, and the ladies look like young girls and have much pep. The lone auntie is one of the country's oldest dancing teachers, internationally known, now in Europe lecturing on the dance. She believes in keeping fit."

"Thank you, L. for your interesting and instructive letter."

Ballet and acrobatic dancing—with the exercises that go with them—are certainly super-fine modes of exercises and I believe should be taught in some form to all children.

I'm going to give you a resume of an article on Ballet Dancing, by Dr. Philip Lewin, an orthopedic surgeon, in the March, 1928, number of Hygeia. As an orthopedic surgeon, he naturally writes from a standpoint of health and the correction and prevention of deformities. While the doctor was writing for girls, acrobatic dancing is equally good for boys and adults—naturally, in all cases if there is no contra-indication to active exercise.

"Through ballet dancing the girl may develop and improve in concentration, poise, sense of balance, quickness and accuracy of thinking, body, and sense of rhythm both of music and of movement. Added to these mental health benefits is the important factor of an efficient physique."

"Physical health benefits are found in improved circulation and digestion and in development of muscle (of both the heart and the skeleton), ligament, tendon and bony skeleton."

"Improvement in body symmetry, carriage, posture and physical attitude is great. Children who are out of shape are benefited by the physical activity of ballet dancing, for it has a tendency to prevent the deposition of fat. The thin child is improved by the general stimulation of bodily functions, especially circulation, muscular and digestive functions."

"Ballet dancing is the foundation of all branches of dancing. Through ballet work the muscles may be properly developed and the balance and poise necessary in any kind of dancing is obtained."

"Acrobatics may be a valuable auxiliary to ballet dancing. It must be taught by a specially trained instructor, who must give every child individual attention in order to prevent injury. Back-bending stunts must not be indulged in too strenuously or too constantly. In children with thyroid gland disturbance

FROST ASKING ASSIGNMENT AS JUVENILE JUDGE

Judge Lincoln Frost Saturday issued the following statement: "I desire to publicly express my deep appreciation to the many friends who have so actively and loyally supported me in the recent campaign for election as district judge. In a campaign for election upon a non-political ballot the candidate must depend upon the publicity which he may obtain through the advertising which he can do and the personal contacts which he can make, together with the assistance of his friends. I appreciate that it was the latter element that made possible my election. I want to again express my thanks for the assistance rendered."

"During the campaign I have made no appeal to the voters on the grounds that I needed the office. There are easier ways of making a living for one's family than holding a public office where that office is regarded as a trust. However, I can be of real service to Lancaster county in the position that I formerly held upon the district bench. I shall be satisfied."

have always felt that the best service of my life was given as juvenile court judge. It is my earnest hope that I may be permitted to continue that work."

"Most sincerely,
"LINCOLN FROST."

Veteran Says Bankrupt — Ross Fletcher of Fairbury filed a petition in bankruptcy in federal court Friday afternoon listing liabilities totaling $1,260.96 and no assets. He gave his occupation as railroad brakeman but claimed that he is a totally disabled veteran of the World War and a beneficiary of the United States veterans bureau.

Hold Durbin Trimble In Kunhart Robbery

Girl Accused of Complicity In Crime Released Because of Lack of Evidence.

(Special to The Star.)
FALLS CITY, Neb., Nov. 10.—Durbin Trimble must face District court on a charge of participating in the "thrilling" robbery near Humboldt. At his preliminary hearing before County Judge Virgil Fallon Friday afternoon the 29-year-old Humboldt youth was bound over under $10,000 bond, in default of which he went to jail to await trial.

Gwendolyn Rogers, bobbed-haired St. Joseph girl, charged with being connected with the holdup, which was perpetrated more than a year ago, when approximately $20,000 in cash and securities were removed from the farm home of Joseph Kunhart, was released when the county judge held that evidence was insufficient to hold here for the crime.

County Attorney R. C. James introduced evidence that the girl, who was arrested recently in California, as was Durbin, was seen constantly with the youth immediately prior to the theft. W. J. Chubb, who was released, testified that Durbin and Gwendolyn had stayed at his hotel a short time before the robbery.

The youth's father, Fred Trimble, is in under $10,000 in cash and securities, and is now pending action in the state supreme court.

HALTHAUS CHAMP CORN HUSKER OF WEBSTER COUNTY

(Special to The Star.)
RED CLOUD, Neb., Nov. 10.—John Halthaus, young Webster county farmer of Stillwater precinct, won the second annual Webster county corn husking contest held here Friday afternoon, when he husked 18 bushels of corn after 14 deductions were made, which is considered a very good record considering the tough condition of the corn, it being rather wet and very hard to husk. Leo Botts, the 1927 champion won second place, husking 18.15 bushels. Third place went to D. Pearson, who husked the largest number of pounds, but because of the amount left in the field and the amount of the husks left on the corn, his net bushels were cut down materially. Earl Rawlings won fourth with a little better than 17 bushels.

BRYAN JOINS IN SQUIRREL SHOOT

(Special to The Star.)
TECUMSEH, Neb., Nov. 10.—Charles W. Bryan and half a dozen other Lincoln men came to Tecumseh to join the annual hunt of the Squirrel club, slated for Friday. Rain prevented an early start. Local hunters had a bunch of squirrels on ice several days ago and a game dinner was served to a large hunting party at noon. Later in the day the men went on a short hunt. Usually they travel about twenty miles and hunt the Nemaha river in quest of squirrels, the club having held many annual hunts and Mr. Bryan and his friends, who are members, always joining in the sport.

ALLIANCE LEAGION POST GIVEN CUP

(Special to The Star.)
ALLIANCE, Neb., Nov. 10.—Alliance American Legion members received a silver cup loving cup donated by Earl, Edward Spafford, New York City, former national commander of the legion, for making the largest membership gain during the past year of the Alliance in Nebraska. The Alliance post increased its membership from 130 to 300 members in the year.

CLASS INITIATED IN SCOTTISH RITE

(Special to The Star.)
ALLIANCE, Neb., Nov. 10.—Scottish Rite Masonry lodge, western Nebraska gathered in Alliance hall for the second and final day of their fall reunion. The degrees were conferred to the fourteenth inclusive, were conferred upon a class of 12 candidates. A banquet in the evening terminated the reunion. Visitors were here from Lincoln, Omaha, Hastings, Grand Island, Scottsbluff and other points in the state.

UNIFORM GRADING OF WHEAT SOUGHT

Department of Agriculture Names Representatives Nineteen Farm Organizations to Solve Problem.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Nov. 10.—(AP)—The United States department of agriculture has appointed a committee from nineteen agricultural organizations of the southwest to investigate a problem created by an alleged lack of uniformity in applying grades on damaged wheat. A grain shippers of the southwest have threatened to demand a revision of the grain standards act because of reputed discrepancies and "too technical application" of the statute.

W. M. Jardine, secretary of agriculture, called a meeting yesterday to investigate complaints. The strict application of the federal grain standards division at Washington, said the government desired to receive first hand information as to what constituted damaged wheat.

If grain statements are wrong they should be changed," he said. "We want you to establish a standard committee to meet when these difficulties arise to aid the department in establishing a true commercial basis for grading grain."

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISING

The Lincoln Star is a member of the Association of Newspaper Classified Advertising Agencies, which includes leading newspapers throughout the country, and has for its aim the elimination of frauds and misadvertising. Pitt Prepared Risk Everything In Game With Nebraska Team

BY MAX E. HANNUM.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Nov. 10.—With definite announcement by the Pitt Panther coaching staff that Tom Parkinson, star fullback, would not be started against Washington & Jefferson in the annual Western Pennsylvania classic here, local football followers realize that the supreme efforts of the Blue and Gold machine will be made against the Nebraska Cornhuskers a week later.

It would be possible for Parkinson to play the team

The Pitt-W. & J. game is one of those traditional affairs, a victory in which either makes or breaks the season of the contesting teams.

Cambridge Record

ORLEANS, Neb., Nov. 10.—Or-

Cambridge high victory string here yesterday by winning a 12-0 victory. Orleans has not been defeated this season.

Schumacher Baker scored the Orleans touchdown, both coming in the first half.

RENE RETAINS PERFECT RECORD

peculiar running style and hard hitting have permitted him to loose against every rival but Carnegie Tech for long runs.

Edwards at Quarter.

Charley Edwards, who was last year's quarterback, and who was shifted to fullback when Parkinson was hurt, may have to fight to retain his old job when the latter returns against Nebraska. Baker, another Sophomore, has played such a brilliant part in Pitt's offensive scheme lately, that he is a big favorite over the veteran Edwards.

Triple Pass Works For Touchdown; Mandery

Even Wins.

BY GREGG MBRIDE.

EXETER, Neb., Nov. 10.—Coach Avard Mandery's Friend high school football team is still in possession of an all-victorious record today as the result of a 6-0 victory achieved in a grid clash with its Exeter rivals yesterday afternoon.

The game was packed with interest and thrills. In fact, the two teams uncorked a greater variety of tricks than a lyeum magician. Double and triple passes behind the Getto is considered the best tackle in this district right now. He is the biggest, smartest of the regulars, tipping the beam close to 200 pounds. Charley Tully, a product of the 1927 Freshmen, is learning the tricks of the trade at the other tackle, and has played up full ball.

Lineemen Plenty Fast.

Ray Montgomery, guard substitute last season, was counted upon to fill the tackle job where Tully is now loitering. He has not disappointed. He carried his ugly head and Montgomery was placed there, successfully relieving the situation.

His work has been so good that he has already up the offense, which was his game's weakness last year. Monty has passed excellently, and he rarely finds a hole to run through to tip the scoreboard.

Defensive man.

Dept. Alex Fox is back at left guard, with Al DiMeolo, another pony linebacker at the DiMeolo was ineptible last pull trick stuff.

Friend-Exeter books was of a thrilling nature, the straight football exhibited was not so good. The Friend men looked a trifle better and played a trifle better than the punting proved more or less hopeless.

Friend scored in the second quarter when three consecutive blocked punts lost Exeter 5 yards and gave Friend possession of the ball close to the goal line.

A triple pass behind the line, which wound up with End Drake carrying the ball, scored the Friend touchdown.

Friend was close to another touchdown in the third period, but a tight against Nebraska, only Donahue, Guertino, Fox and Parkinson were in at the first half. Parkinson's game was Parkinson and playing quarterback then, faurins keeping quarters and the game was in the hands of the Eords and Fisher. The varsity Montgomery subsequently got into action, but only for about a minute.

Tip hitters, however, will reserve their opinions of the Panthers' chances for the game with the team from W. & J. game. Despite the fact that Dr. Suberland had so many gaps to plug this time he has not done as well as closely firmly. He kept it keyed up on successive Saturdays against Carnegie Tech and Syracuse. The game was a close one and excellent co-ordination of the last two games is continued against the Presidents team. The game was much from their team on November 17.

Swanson Real Punter.
Halfback Swanson was the big noise for Friend. The Friend the game, his kicks pulling his team out of several tight holes. Bauer was the main ground-gainer for the Friend aggregation.

Halfback, Alvin Styskal was the bright spots for Exeter. The two backfield men formed the main driving rods in the ground-gaining machine as well as providing effective cogs in the secondary defense which had the Friend attack pretty well stopped most of DES MOINES, Ia., Nov. 10.—(AP)—Falling from a hotel window, John J. Erickson, a salesman from Independence, Mo., plunged four stories to his death early today.

Erickson, 37, was in an open window, and Corner H. J. Wright said he evidently became restless and rolled out of bed on the wrong side.
